

The background image shows the interior of the Edinburgh University Library, a grand circular hall with a high vaulted ceiling. The architecture features classical columns, arches, and ornate wall decorations. Large windows with arched panes are visible at the top. In the foreground, several people are seated at tables, engaged in study or work. The overall atmosphere is one of a historic and scholarly environment.

Edinburgh Bibliographical Seminar and Workshop

Catalogues and Registers as Evidence in the History of Mathematics, Science, and Technology